12–3 milligrams of fentanyl is enough to cause respiratory depression, arrest and possible death—a measurement equivalent to 5–7 grains of table salt. Accidental exposure to fentanyl can cause significant harm to these workers.

WORKERS AT RISK

- Sniffer dogs
- First responders
- Hospital staff
- Police officers
- Crime lab staff
- Correction officers
- Employees at overdose site

*Source: DEA Fentanyl Briefing Guide for First Responders (June 2017)